WHO'S THE BRIDE IS THE QUESTION

Miss Ruby Amos of This City and Miss Blanch Kerr Are Both Mentioned.

RICHMOND MAN, BRIDEGROOM

Special Dispatch From Richmond
Tells of Secret Marriage—Say
Miss Amos is Not Married.

"The telephone bell in the information bureau of the the Richmond Telephone company's office jingles,"
says a dispatch from Richmond,
special to the Daily Republican, this afternoon.

"Hello," answered a silvery voice.
"This is a reporter," said silvery voice was informed.

"Can you tell me if there is a man named W. N. Curtis working for your company?" Central giggled

"Yes," she replied.

"Well, did he marry Miss Ruby Amos of Rushville, who visits Miss Blanch Kerr of Greensfork?" Some more giggles.

"Well, we congratulated him on marrying Miss Kerr and he turned awfully red but didn't deny it. Oh, isn't this just too romantic?"

"The reporter then got into communication with Curtis who is wire chief and brazenly put the question to him.

"Did you marry Miss Amos of Rushville?" Mr. Curtis was embes-rassed. You could feel it over the wire.

"Why, that is—I mean—why
she's not the girl."

"Then the receiver was hung up.
If Curtis married Miss Kerr their license record is very carefully secreted at the court house. Same holds true if Miss Amos is the happy bride. Anyhow, it's very romantic."

But how about it at this end of the line? A reporter called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Amos in North Main street and found that Miss Ruby Amos was spending the day in Indianapolis. Mrs. Amos was apprised of the story which is current in Richmond. She very stontly refused to confirm it and said that it was absolutely false. Mrs. Amos said that there was no semblance of truth in the report, of that, she was very positive.

Miss Ruby Amos lives at 515 North Main street, where Miss Blanch Kerr of Greensfork, Wayne county, has visited many times. Miss Kerr is well known by many local young people by reason of her many visits here. She became acquainted with Miss Amos while the two young women were students in an Indianapolis music school. Miss Amos has visited Miss Kerr many times, but not recently, according to Mrs. Amos.

ATTRACTING GOOD CROWDS

Interest Grows in the First Baptist Church Revival.

The First Baptist church revival meetings continue to draw large crowds. The Rev. J. V. Fradenburg of Greensburg, who is conducting the meetings has a fine selection of sermons which have been well received.
The song service is conducted by the Rev. E. C. Myers and is proving to be a feature. The services begin at seven-thirty o'clock.

The Chinese are at present much interested in electric lighting enterprises for their principal cities, and American apparatus is in demand.

JUST NOW HEAR OF WEDDING

Will Lemming, Formerly of This City
Married in Cincinnati.

It has just come to light that Will Lemming, formerly of this city, but now located in New Mexico, was married about a year ago. Mr. Lemming left this city several years ago.
His father, M. C. Lemming of Eaton, Ohio, while in this city today, told of his son's marriage. He was married in Cincinnati and kept it secret from his parents until his father came to visit him in New Mexico, when he disclosed the fact.

LETTER TO SANTA IS NOVEL EPISTLE

Series of Hieroglyphics And Scribbles
Can be Translated by None Other Than Kris Kingle.

FORWARDED TO NORTH POLE

A letter to Santa Claus has been received at the Daily Republican office that is beyond the efforts of all linguists that have ever lived. It is a series of scribbles and hieroglyphics, that no one but Santa Claus could read. So the Republican will not attempt to publish it but will rather forward it on to Santa Claus and he will act on it Christmas eve.

The popular feature of the Republican, the Santa Claus letters promise to be more popular than ever this year. Already a few missives have been received for Kris Kingle and as soon as a few more are mailed, the daily publication of them will be started.

ADVISE LARGE SUM FOR HOME

The Legislative Committee's Report Shows Over $200,000 is Needed
by Knightstown Institution.

ATTENDANCE IS ON DECREASE

Recommend Erection of Girls' Gymnasium, Increased Radiation,
and Other Repairs

The committee from the State legislature composed of Representative Joe Cravens of Madison, Representative Miles Farnas of Winchester and J. J. Netterville of Anderson, joint senator from Henry and Madison counties, appointed by Governor Marshall to investigate the needs of the State institutions, has filed a partial report with the governor. The report covers the appropriation needed by the Indiana village of epileptics at New Castle and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home at Knights-town.

The total appropriation recommended for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home near Knightstown is $234,266.26. The maintenance fund sought is $223,200 and the specific fund, $11,066. The reports show that an average attendance decrease of 67
is anticipated at the Home. However, because of the high cost of living the maintenance fund is increased $400. The increase in the specific fund is $639.59.

The improvements sought at the Knightstown institution are a gymnasium for girls, tiling for farm drainage, furnishing girls' bath room, increased radiation, repairs for greenhouse, cement walks and courts, cement conduit, cement veranda floor,
wire fencing, house furnishings, wire
stretcher, steam condensation pump, cylinder, piston rod and cross head
for engine, repairs for water pump commutator.

The appropriation asked for by the epileptic village totals $415,955. Of this amount $98,675 is for maintenance and $317,280 is for specific improvements. It is figured that the daily population in the village for the two years will be 10,172, necessitating an increase of $11,572.71 over the last maintenance increase. The specific increase is $215,380.

HERE'S ONE THAT BEATS

Nineteen-Year-Old Boy Husks 140
Bushels in 9 Hours and 45 Minutes

Tuesday the Daily Republican gave an account of Robert Miller living near Glenwood, husking 140 bushels of corn in a day and asked "Who can beat it?" Last evening a report was received by wire that Court Oldham, a nineteen-year-old boy has shucked and cribbed one hundred and forty bushels in nine hours and forty-five minutes. The wonderful piece of work was accomplished on the James McDaniel farm in Jackson township. Now who can beat that?

WILL BUILD NEW ROAD.

The commissioners of Rush, Hancock and Shelby counties met in joint session in the court house this afternoon, appointing Horace Chadwick of Shelby county and Sherman Smith of Hancock county as viewers and A. L.
Stewart of this county surveyor of a new road to be built near Gwynne-ville. They are to meet Monday and report by January 12.

The newest muffs are enormous.

TRY TO EXPLAIN FEE LIMITATION

Sheriff Clata Bebout and Township
Trustees Get Letters From State
Official Concerning Statutes.

MAKE POOR RELIEF LAW CLEAR

Hold Sheriff Can Collect Fees Only Upon Legal Admittance and Release of Prisoners.

Clata Bebout, county sheriff, has received a letter from W. A. Dehority, chief examiner of the State Board of Accounts, and Amos W. Butler, secretary of the Board of State Charities, which is expected to correct some mistaken impressions about the
"in and out" fee law and the township poor relief law. The letters were also sent to township trustees all over the county. It is said that the two State officials have received frequent requests for explanations of the two laws.

The State Board of Accounts holds that the sheriff of a county is not entitled to a "key" fee or "in and out" fee every time he releases a prisoner to go to court or lets him in when he returns therefrom.

"The law, as we understand it," says Mr. Dehority, "provides for an
'in' fee when the prisoner is legally admitted to jail and an 'out' fee when the prisoner is released in the manner provided by law. Sheriffs are not entitled to an 'in and out' fee or to charge for board when persons are not legally admitted to jail, such as receiving and boarding tramps who are not arrested.

"The township poor relief law limits the overseer of the poor to relief to the amount of $15 a quarter to one person or family before making the statement required to the Board of county commissioners. Whenever such amount of relief has been given,
that is, at any time, in a month, three months or six months, as the case may be, authority must be had from the board of county commissioners
before giving further relief. Inasmuch as the overseers of the poor are required to make a settlement with
the board of county commissioners annually in January, all terms would logically end with each settlement and new ones begin with it.

"Children placed in orphans' homes
by any other authority than the juvenile court or a county are not properly public wards. And the board of county commissioners can not legally pay for their support. The law of 1907 (effective April 10) provides that no child shall be supported thereafter in an orphans' home by the county unless it has been made a public ward by the order of the judge of the juvenile court. In all counties of the State but Marion the judge of the circuit court is ex-officio the judge of the juvenile court. All such wards are available for placement in family homes by the agents of the board of State charities. Counties, however, remain liable for the support of children legally made public wards prior to the passage of the above act until they reach the age of self support.

"The township trustee is overseer of all the poor, the young as well as the old. Whenever a child under his care can only be cared for in an orphans' home, he can bring the case to the attention of the judge, either in term time or vacation, by a written petition on a form with which the county clerk will supply him, and the judge will make the proper order in the case and see that a correct record is kept. Such child must be made a ward of one of three agencies: the court, the board of county commissioners or the board of children's guardians. Children over three years old can not be cared for legally in the county poor asylum for more than sixty days."

START SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS

Tri Kappas Definitely Decided Today
to Dispose of Stickers in Rushville During Xmas Season.

WERE SUCCESSFUL LAST YEAR

Name Has Been Changed to "Seal"
so it Will Not be Confused
With U. S. Stamp.

The campaign for the sale of Red Cross seals is now on in Rushville as the Tri Kappas definitely decided today that they would sell the stickers this year. They will place the seals on sale in local business houses and will work individually to sell them.
Last year they disposed of a large number and were highly praised for their work. They will probably use the same campaign this year as last,
when they had a place in the postoffice a few days before Christmas and disposed of a large number in that manner.

The name of the stickers has been changed to Christmas seals in the hope of educating many people to the fact that the little pasters do not pay postage on holiday letters, cards and parcels. So many people have had the idea that the seals took the place of regular postage stamps that they fairly flooded the mails at Christmas time with an abundance of the Red Cross seals on the letters and parcels, but no postage stamps. The postal authorities send such mail to the dead letter office at Washington.

The Red Cross has changed the name to "seals" to get the postage stamp idea entirely out of the public mind. Further to prevent a misuse of the seals, the postal authorities have directed that they be placed on the back of envelopes and parcels,
and not on the address side.

they could not find larger quarters to their increasing business, has obtain-

Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber company.
The option has been taken on the defunct factory structure, and will be good until the fifteenth of January, in which time the company can lease the building or release the owners from the contract. The committee from the Merchants' Association which was appointed to look after the matter, will report the success tonight at the meeting.

MR. FAIRBANKS HOUSE GUEST OF PRESIDENT

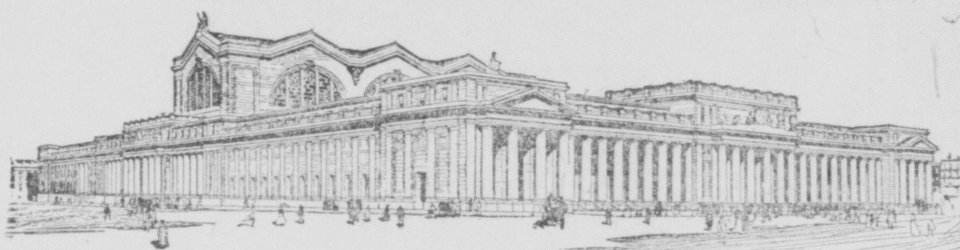

Much Speculation As to Significance of Coming Visit.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Former Vice President Fairbanks has been invited to Washington to remain several days as the house guest of President Taft. Mr. Fairbanks will arrive about the 10th inst., to attend the Gridiron club dinner to be given one week from next Saturday night. The president, learning of Mr. Fairbanks' intended visit, took occasion to play the role of host. There is much speculation as to the political significance of Mr. Fairbanks' visit. It is understood that he will discuss with the president plans for rehabilitating the Republican party in Indiana. It is said of the former vice president that he would accept no office. They understand that the post

IT MADE HIM MAD

To Think That Murderer of Kinsman Escaped Hanging.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec. 1.—Because the confessed murderer of his nephew, Joseph Bryant, received only a twenty-five year sentence, Cree Bryant attempted to kill the prisoner, Charles Brent, as the latter was being taken from the courtroom. He followed behind, drew a revolver and leveled it at the back of Brent's head. A bystander knocked Bryant's arm up as he pulled the trigger and the bullet went high. After a struggle Bryant was arrested.

Young Bryant was killed on Brent's houseboat, the murderer confessing he beat him almost to death while he was helplessly drunk and then threw him, still alive, into the river three weeks ago. Knowing Judge Newlin's opposition to capital punishment, Brent pleaded guilty. Intense feeling is aroused by the light sentence.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1.—Discussion on "Conservation from the Standpoint of the State," "Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Acts," "Power of the Government," a luncheon at the Seelbach hotel, and reception at the Woman's club last night, ended the first day's session of the conference of governors in Louisville. It became manifest early that the business features of the meeting of the governors of the various states would have to be either confined to brief intervals, when entertainments were not in order, or eliminated entirely. It was decided to eliminate discussions of the election of senators by popular vote, income tax amendments, etc., and to devote all the time possible in the business meetings to discussions of other subjects already arranged. Last night there was an executive session which lasted for an hour and a half, but the measures brought before the governors were not given out for publication. It is stated, however, that many of the subjects which were to have been taken up at this session of the conference were killed.

"Conservation of human life" will be another subject which will be taken up this afternoon. The employers' liability law, child labor, pollution of streams, health, tuberculosis and other phases of conservation of human life will be touched upon during the discussion.

It has been decided by the governors of the conference to bring the meetings to a close this evening. Instead of Saturday evening, as suggested in the tentative program, and the discussions have thus been limited, and the social side of the program rearranged. It is planned to have the guests attend a circus tomorrow night, which has been designated as "Governors' night."

Several notable functions will be given during the time the distinguished visitors will spend in Louisville. Handsome entertainments mark practically every moment of the time for the governors' wives. It is announced that the next meeting place of the governors' conference will be at Spring Lake, N. J., during the first week of September, 1911.

MERGER PROPOSED

Important Deal Marks Plans of Chicago Railway Company.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Andrew Cooke bought the Chicago Consolidated Traction company at an auction sale conducted by Master in Chancery Bishop under the orders of the United States Circuit court. He paid $1,425,000 for the street railway system that covers the outlying portions of the north and west sides of Chicago and extends out into several of the suburbs.

The property he bought is bonded for some $15,000,000 and has been officially valued by the city's board of supervising engineers at $4,000,000. The new purchaser has been active in reorganizing the Consolidated company and his purchase is said to mean an important step toward the reorganization of the system and the transfer of title to the Chicago Railway company.

A New Municipal Activity.

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—Rev. David Morgan of the Bethel House believes St. Paul should have a municipal dance hall. He is urging his plan upon Mayor Keller, who said that if it could be put into practical shape he would urge its adoption by the city council.

The Orangemen claim that this valuable government property was misused at the congress.

They Want Safety Conference Held In Chambers.

GOVERNOR DESIRES PUBLICITY

Proposed Conference Between Governor of Indiana, the State Railroad Commission and Representatives of the Interurban Roads of the State Will Not Be Public, It is Said, if the Roads Can Have Their Way.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Whether the proposed conference of the governor, the railroad commission and representatives of the interurban roads of the state, to consider the recommendations of the commission growing out of the recent fatal trolley wrecks, will be public is still an open question. Opposition to the conference being made public is understood to have arisen among the interurban men. The governor several days ago expressed a wish to have an open conference, and will probably insist that it be such.

Friends of the governor, who believe that a necessity exists for some recommendations to the general assembly on the question of regulating trolley lines, are urging him to have an open conference and give the people of the state a clear statement of what the state proposes to do concerning trolley regulation, together with a comprehensive understanding of the findings and recommendations of the railroad commission, based on investigations of the recent wrecks.

The commission has filed with the governor a special report on its findings and recommendations, and this, it is understood, will form the basis for the conference discussions. Under the law the commission is not permitted to make the recommendations public unless the roads directly concerned by them fail to comply with the recommendations. However, the special report to the governor, it is claimed, is not restricted by the law in question.

While the actual date of the conference has not been selected, it is understood that it will be called for some day before Dec. 15.

COSTLY FREIGHT CRASH

The Pennsylvania Has a Disastrous Wreck Near Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 1.—A freight wreck on the Pennsylvania at Greens Fork, ten miles west of Richmond, resulted in a property loss of more than $50,000 and tied up traffic on the Richmond division. One brakeman was slightly injured but all other trainmen escaped.

The westbound local freight had stopped at the Greens Fork station to receive and unload freight when a westbound through freight rounded the curve just east of the town and before the engineer had time to reverse and apply the air, the through freight crashed into the rear of the local. The engineer and his fireman jumped.

The through freight's locomotive plowed through six cars of the local, piling the debris high on both sides. The passenger station was almost demolished as was also a building on the opposite side of the track.

New Indiana Oil Inspector.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Governor Marshall has announced the appointment of James H. Fry of Fort Wayne as supervisor of oil inspection, to succeed Sid Conger, whose commission will expire Jan. 1. Mr. Fry is now employed as chief clerk in the Ft. Wayne offices of the Pennsylvania lines, where he has been for twenty-eight years. He served for some time as secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, and was for three years a member of the Fort Wayne board of city school trustees.

Poison In War.

When the French beat the Formosans along the coast in 1881 the latter retired to the interior. When the French pursued them they found a queer line of defense, beyond which they could make no progress and in storming which many died. The Formosans had poisoned the springs, water courses, etc., as they retreated, and the campaigns of the French against them never got farther than the poison line. The poison was a native one, as deadly as arsenic or strychnine.

December in the Stores.

The merchant now reaches the period when he expects double business. He has locked up an unusually large amount of money in his goods, he has made some arrangement for extra help and overtime.

To make sure that he be not left stranded with a lot of unsaleable holiday goods, he ought to provide for a quantity of advertising in proportion to his expected receipts, and comparing with the additional amount of capital invested in his wares.

The well regulated business sets aside at the start a definite proportion of its receipts for advertising. Few holiday shoppers would go to a store where there was only a meager number of salespeople to show goods. Yet some merchants try to handle the big Christmas stock without the most important salesman of all—the newspaper that is admitted to all the homes for a long heart to heart talk with the buyers.

The Canadians talk reciprocity. If we trade on their usual basis, we will come out like the man who went to the county fair, with a pair of oxen and after several profitable swaps returned with a pair of hens.

Cardinal Gibbons is against manish women. Forced into the game of self support, however, the poor girls naturally acquire some of the manners and fashions of the masculine line they are up against.

The government saves half a million by cutting out envelopes for registered letters. Every other Consumer having been squealing over the cost of living, Uncle Sam has at last begun to look over his cash account.

Dr. Cook now virtually admits that he did not reach the North Pole, and that it is difficult to ascertain its exact location. He has lived in exile and seclusion long enough and wants to come back home. Inasmuch as the doctor gave us all a first-class thrill at the time he made his momentous announcement of the discovery of the pole, we will forgive him, provided he promises not to fool us again.

In his forthcoming annual report Postmaster General Hitchcock will recommend a limited parcels post for the rural free delivery routes, according to a special from Washington. As the primary step in the development of such a service Mr. Hitchcock will ask congress to authorize the delivery on rural routes of parcels weighing as high as eleven pounds, which is the weight for the international parcels post. This form of service, it is maintained, will not require the appointment of more carriers, for those already employed have the necessary equipment in the way of horses and wagons to distribute the parcels as well as ordinary mail. Mr. Hitchcock accordingly urges that, in conjunction with the experiment on rural routes, a further inquiry be authorized by congress so that the department may be in a better position to develop the system on conservative lines. He recommends that a special appropriation for the inquiry be granted at the coming session.

In this country where all good things are gobbled up by large moneyed interests, the government should be very cautious in its parcels post experiment, lest it will prove as formidable a rock of contention as the tariff. The large mail order houses have for years been lobbying for an unlimited parcels post in order to appropriate to themselves what little trade is left the county merchant.

EDITORIALETTES.

Just now there are twenty-three more days left but that should not cause any superstitious beliefs about Christmas shopping.

They say that father can already hear a "loud" pair of sox coming his way, even before the yuletide season is here.

Cyrus Barrett of Knightstown says that he has a farm which is literally sown with glasses by reason of the fact that he has lost so many pairs there. And he is not raising "sea" weed either.

The superiority of man over nature is demonstrated every day. It takes a superfluity of quills for nature to make a goose, while man can take one lonely quill and make a goose of himself.

But what's that to do with the source of the Christmas turkey?

They say that a few more like today and the Daily Republican Santa Claus fund will exceed all records.

It is said that stockings that are worn three times longer come that much higher.

Why keep the wolf from the door? He will make cheaper meat than a cow.

Incidents of Human Interest
Extracted From Daily Grind

IN THE OLDEN DAYS.

It was in the "dear old, rare old, olden days" that rural mail carriers received only four hundred dollars a year, had to drive thirty-one miles each day and then generally in mud up to the wagon bed. But those are days long forgotten.

But there is one mail carrier who travels out of Rushville yet who can remember those days and it is not often that he forgets to mention the times when Uncle Sam was a measly, stingy taskmaster and asked of his men twice as much as he paid them for. George Aultman remembers those days and he will tell you about it, too. He has reminded his fellow-carriers many, many times about the "olden days" and they all know the story by heart now.

John Finley is the one who generally brings up the subject. Seated around the new office stove—a year ago it was the old office stove—they "swop" stories and talk of the times when they were boys. John Finley is an awful tease. Whenever he gets "de bunch" together in the evening after they have distributed their mail, he starts out on some carrier. George Aultman is often his prey.

"Now go on and tell 'em about the time when you drove thirty-one miles each day, hauled a lawn mower and a barrel of cabbage for one of your patrons," began Finley the other night after he had leaned back comfortably in his chair in front of the hot stove. "Go on. We all know, but here are some visitors who don't."

"No," replies George Aultman and the way he said it led the other carriers to believe he meant it. He stoutly refused no matter how much they insisted.

"Well, for the sake of the guests, I suppose I'll have to relate it. George carried the mail when they drove thirty-one miles a day and got only four hundred dollars, of course, now we get."

"Whoa," shouted the carriers in chorus, "I don't see why you should cry out from the tree tops what we get."

"All right, we get more than that anyway. But then, as we all know, since George told us, a carrier could take anything to any one of his patrons. Now, it's different. One day one of George's best families asked him if he would call at a hardware store the next morning, get a lawn mower and bring it out to them. Of course, as you all know, George is courteous enough and he carried the grass cutter out.

"George was doing fairly well on his four hundred per, when one day this very same woman, who had asked him to haul the lawn mower, came out and kindly requested him to haul out a barrel of cabbage for her from a grocery store. No, not George, he couldn't look her in the eye and refuse her, so he just looked at the ground. 'Well, can you do it?' asked the woman. 'Guess I can,' said George and the next day he began. You know that he could not haul a barrel of cabbage out in that little cramped wagon of his and he didn't attempt to tell us that. But he took it out on the installment plan. George hauled a dozen heads each day until he got her all out and supposed of course that they would be standing at the gate with a half a hog in their arms as a 'tip' for his noble work. Finally he hauled the last dozen out and deposited them at the gate. Must not be anybody at home, he thought and went on. The next day the little girl came running out when he passed and said, 'Mamma forgot yesterday, 'cause she wanted to thank you very much for bringing the cabbage.'

"Since that time George has not played the 'cabbage head' role, but he don't have to drive thirty-one miles any more, do you George?"

THAT PROVERBIAL BLACK CAT.

Life in St. Paul is just one provoking thing after another. If it is not one thing it is another, so there you are. Now it's a black cat which has caused considerable consternation in the social circles of that little county-line hamlet.

The other night, meaning one night not far distant in point of time, St. Paul's most charming belle was walking down Washington street near the hour of midnight. She was accompanied by one of the town's handsomest young men. Suddenly, as an imp from the lower regions, a terrible black cat, one of the kind about which so much fascinating superstition revolves, darted across their path. The poor innocent, cat caused the young man to be very much irritated. He caught and threw it up on the roof of a porch.

The very tender heart of the young woman was touched with pity by the wails issuing from the mouth of the poor and unfortunate dumb thing. She told her escort that unless he rescued kitty from its high and lonely perch, he must meander on his way alone. He realized in what a sad plight that would leave him and promptly obeyed orders. He removed his coat, hat and shoes and scaled the slippery veranda posts, bringing the innocent intruder safely back to earth.

CEASES TO BE A JOKE.

The town clock has long since ceased to be a joke. It has been off for the past two months and refuses to rectify its mistakes. Contrary to previous customs it is fast. The hands do not work alike, some forging ahead of the others. The one which gets to the even hour first causes the town clock to strike while the other three bring up the rear. It is a race far a time rather than a marathon contest. The time of the clock greatly inconveniences many business men and clerks around the square who depend on it for their time. School children are greatly worried by the town clock, many of them arriving at school ahead of time and being compelled to wait out in the cold until the doors open.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet has two pictures for tonight. The first is a Bison film, "The True Indian Brave." It tells a beautiful Indian romance. The second film is a Thanhouse, "The Governor's Daughter." This picture is equally as good as the first. A new illustrated song will be sung.

Tim Murphy will be seen at the Murat in Indianapolis Saturday afternoon and night in "Mr. Opp." This piece is a comedy-drama made from a story by the author of Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, but further than this, Mr. Murphy's advance notices supply no information.

The Palace has a Vitagraph film for tonight entitled "The Children's Revolt." Over-indulged and pampered, restrained and hampered by nurses and the "dons" of too much solicitude, the two children of wealthy parents long for freedom and show that they are in many respects quite as natural as most children and a little more unmanageable. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star-Grand offers an Edison film tonight which is a drama written by Roy Norton entitled "His Breach of Discipline." The story is of a French lieutenant who resents an insult to the beautiful Helene, of whom he is enamored and to whom he is affianced, given by Capt. Miquelin, his superior officer. The film is a splendid one in every way, scenically and dramatically; it is well night perfect and there is a blend of western and French romance which gives the picture a peculiar charm. Earl Robertson will sing "I'm Bugs About You."

On December 5, 6, and 7 at English's opera house, with a matinee on Wednesday, December 7, Thomas Jefferson will be seen in a modern play, "The Other Fellow," which will be Mr. Jefferson's first offering on the legitimate stage since his appearance in "Rip Van Winkle." The new vehicle is a farce in three acts by George Totten Smith, author of "His Honor the Mayor," and "The Deacon and the Lady," and has for its basis theosophy and Hindu mysticism, which is introduced only to transfer two souls. Milton Swift (Thomas Jefferson) and Dr. Theodore Button are the two victims of Chud Suddah's mystic influence. Suddah, a Hindu, in giving a demonstration of his power, sends the souls of Swift and Button off into space to sport about among the stars and planets, but succeeds in getting back only Swift's soul, which, in order to pave the way for the farce, inserts itself into Button's body. An interval of many situations precedes the return of Button's soul into Swift's body. Finally Suddah, who has been in spiritual communication with his Mahatma gets back his mystic power and returns the souls to their owners. As one may imagine, these are laugh-roving situations indeed, and Thomas Jefferson proves himself a finished light comedian, as he should be by right of inheritance as Joseph Jefferson's son.

RARE SOCIAL EVENT.

Last evening was the occasion of a very pretty function at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tompkins in East Seventh street. It was the occasion of their thirteenth wedding anniversary.

A six o'clock supper was served, after which the evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. The table was very tastefully decorated with white wedding bells, and post cards were given as souvenirs.

At a late hour the guests departed to their respective homes, after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins many more such pleasant occasions, and all agreeing that as entertainers the host and hostess could not be excelled.

CHAPTER XVI.

SUMMER slumbered to its close. A drowsy autumn settled upon our valley, in which its traditional peace seemed but the more profound.

Josie Lockwood announced that she was going away to school in New York for the winter. Pete Willing took the pledge and kept it almost a month. Will Bigelow secured time tables and laboriously mapped out his semiannually contemplated trip to the east—like the others, destined never to come off. Tracey Tanner went to work for Graham & Duncan. Roland Barnette paid ostentatious attentions to Bess Gabriel, who tolerated him simply because she didn't much like Josie; but, blighted by Josie's supreme indifference, this budding passion drooped and failed by mutual consent of both parties concerned. Angie Tutthill became more conspicuously than ever the orb of Tracey's universe. Duncan walked home with Josie on two week day evenings and twice on Sundays and learned how to play balala and parcheesi. The drug store prospered in moderation. Sothern & Lee vainly contesting its conquering campaign. And Duncan grew thoughtful.

BESS GABRIEL.

One has more time to think unselfishly in Radville than in a great city, where there's rarely more time than enough to think of one's own concerns. And Duncan was making time to think about others, notably Betty Graham. The girl was, as usual, shy, reticent, reserved. She kept her thoughts to herself, sharing the most intimate not even with old Sam, who would talk. But Duncan divined that she was unhappy.

He saw her go and come, a wistful shadow on the borders of his occupations, self contained, a little timid, but at the same time brave in her own quiet, uncomplaining fashion. And the distant look in those soft eyes he divined to be one of longing for that which she might not possess—the advantages that other girls had, socially and educationally; the pleasures they contrived, the attentions they received, the thousand and one slight things that make existence life for a woman. He saw her drooping insensibly day by day, growing a little paler, a shade more aloof and listless. And he became infinitely concerned for her.

He told himself he had solved the problem of her disease, but its remedy remained beyond his reach. The business was doing very well indeed, but it was still young and must be subjected to as few financial drains as possible. As it ran there was an income sufficient to board, lodge and clothe the three of them, maintain the credit of the partnership and now and again admit of a slight but advantageous addition to the stock of fixtures. Things would certainly be better in the course of time, but—

It came to pass that he left the store early one evening, excusing himself on the plea of some slight indisposition.

THE FORTUNE

FALLING HAIR

Easy to Stop it and Make it Lustrous and Beautiful.

If your hair is falling out; if you have dull, unattractive hair, or if you need a daily hair dressing, read what Mrs. Hettie Hodgman of Nelsonville, Erie county, Ohio, writes June 3, 1910, about Parisian Sage:

"I used Parisian Sage for falling hair and find it the finest thing I ever heard of. My hair was falling out by combs full, and I could run my fingers through it and they would hang full of loose hair. I washed my hair and got a bottle of Parisian Sage and used two applications and I could see a great difference. My hair was lustrous and nice and had almost stopped falling out, and by the use of one more bottle it stopped altogether."

For women, for men or for children Parisian Sage is without any doubt the finest preparation for the hair. It is guaranteed by Johnson's drug store to stop hair from falling; to eradicate dandruff and stop itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. It is a most daintily perfumed and refreshing hair dressing, free from grease or stickiness, and ought to be in every home where every member of the family could use it daily. Large bottle 50 cents at Johnson's drug store and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

and lost himself for the space of two hours.

He found himself shortly after 8 at pause by the gate to the Bohun place. An aged negro butler, one of the freed slaves brought from Virginia by the Bohuns, admitted him to the hall and took his card, smothering his own wonderment, for in those days nobody disturbed the silence and the peace of decay of the Bohun mansion save its master. Duncan had long to wait.

"Colonel Bohun will see you, sir," the servant said and ushered him into the library.

Bohun received the young man standing. He was as courteous beneath his own roof as he was impossible away from it.

The colonel nodded. "At your service, sir," and waited grimly.

Duncan had his own way of getting at things.

"May I inquire, sir, if you are acquainted with the firm of L. J. Bartlett & Co. of New York?"

"I have heard of it, Mr. Duncan."

"Then would you mind doing me the favor of writing to Mr. Henry Kellogg, the junior partner, and asking him about me?"

The colonel stiffened. "May I ask why I should do anything so uncalled for?"

"Because it isn't uncalled for, sir. I mean you won't think so after I've explained."

Bohun inclined his head, searching Nat's face with his keen, bright eyes.

"You see, sir, it's this way. I want you to intrust me with a considerable sum of money, and naturally you would not do that without knowing something about me."

"I incline very much to doubt that I should do it in any event, Mr. Duncan."

"Oh, don't say that. You don't know the circumstances as yet." Nat jerked his head earnestly at the colonel. "You see, you're said to be one of the richest men in town, and I'm certainly one of the poorest, so of course I turn to you in a case like this."

Duncan could have sworn that the eyes were twinkling beneath the savagely knitted brows.

"You must understand I'm in business here in Radville—a partner in a growing and prospering concern—ah—doing—very well in point of fact."

"Yes?"

"But we haven't any spare capital."

Company to Concede This.

In each and every case where Sexine Pills do not bring back your strength and steady nerves to any man or woman who has used six boxes, the company will either give—without additional cost—six boxes more for more prolonged treatment, or will refund your five dollars. The company has been doing this for years and still does so, without quibble or red tape. Besides, they do not want you to hesitate to send in your claim if necessary. Hargrove & Mullin, druggists, endorse every word of this.

In fact, we haven't got any capital worth mentioning. But the business is entirely sound and solvent."

"I congratulate you, sir."

"Thank you very much. Now, I'm interested in a rather singular case, that of a young woman—a girl, I should say—daughter of my partner. She's a good girl and wonderfully sweet and fine, sir. She comes of one of the best families in these parts."

"On her mother's side," suggested the colonel dryly.

"So I'm told, sir. But she's been neglected. Circumstances have been against her. She hasn't had a real chance in life, but she ought to have it, and I'm going to see that she gets it one way or another."

"You haven't finished?" said the colonel coldly.

"Not quite, sir," said Duncan. "Good sign," he told himself. "He hasn't ordered me thrown out yet."

"To come down to cases, sir, she ought to be sent to a good boarding school for a few years. It'll make a new woman of her—a woman to be proud of. She's got that in her. It only needs to be brought out."

"And before you leave, sir," said the colonel with significant precision, "will you be so kind as to inform me why you think this should interest me?"

"No," said Duncan candidly. "I haven't got the nerve to. But what I wanted to propose was this—that you lend me $500 on condition that I represent the money as coming from the profits of the business and, in short, keep the transaction between ourselves absolutely quiet. If you'll inquire of Mr. Kellogg he'll tell you I can be trusted to keep my word. Furthermore—he galloped, suspecting that his time was perilously short and desiring to get it all out of his system—"I'll guarantee you repayment within a year and that you shan't be annoyed this way a second time."

Bohun looked him over from head to foot, bowed in silence and, turning—both had stood throughout this passage—grasped a bell rope by the chimney and pulled it violently.

In the desolate fastnesses of that dreary house somewhere a bell tinkled discordantly. A moment later the white headed darky butler opened the door.

"Sub?" he said.

Colonel Bohun essayed to speak, cleared his throat angrily and indicated Duncan with a courteous gesture.

"Scipio," said he, "this gentleman will have a glass of wine with me."

"Yassuh!" stammered the negro.

Bohun turned to his guest. "Won't you be seated, Mr. Duncan?" he said.

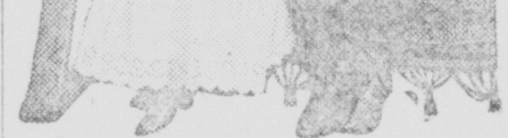

"You have interested me considerably, sir, and I should be glad to discuss the matter with you."

Speechless, Duncan gasped incoherently and moved toward a chair as the servant reappeared with a tray on which was a decanter of sherry and two old fashioned, thin stemmed crystal glasses. He placed this on the library table, filled the glasses and at a sign from Bohun retired.

"Sir," said the colonel, indicating the tray, "to you. I hold it a privilege, sir, to drink to the only gentleman of spirit it's been my good fortune to meet this many a year."

By way of an aside, it should be mentioned that this was the first and only drink Duncan took while he lived in Radville.

MAKE LIFE WORTH LIVING

Says Elder Cunningham.

When pure healthy blood courses through every vein and artery of the body, the organs are in healthy condition, and a strenuous active life is a pleasure to man or woman.

But if the blood is impure and sluggish, the appetite poor, digestion weak and vitality not up to the standard, life is a burden; then you need Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil. Such evidence as comes from Henry Cunningham, elder of the Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C., should be convincing. He says, "I was run-down and weak from general debility, and suffered from vertigo. I took Vinol with the most gartifying results. I gained in health and strength and now feel unusually well."

Elder Cunningham's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists, Rushville, Ind.

Lucky He Stuck to His Opinion.

Pride of opinion is perhaps the most common fault of us fairly educated and intelligent moderns. We form our judgments and then, as it were, defy any one to change them. It is said that no one has ever been converted by abstract argument.

At the time of the great disaster in Martinique the Italian bark Orsolina was taking on a cargo of sugar there. Her captain was accustomed to volcanoes, and he did not like the appearance of Mont Pelee. Not half his cargo was on board, but he decided to sail for home.

"The volcano is all right," argued the shippers. "Finish your loading."

"I don't know anything about Mont Pelee," said the captain. "but if Vesuvius looked that way I'd get out of Naples, and I'm going to get right out of here."

The shippers threatened him with arrest. They sent customs officers to detain him, but the captain persisted in leaving. Twenty-four hours later the shippers and the customs officers lay dead in the ruins of St. Pierre.—Christian Herald.

A Miser's Luxury.

There was a Middlesex couple once who lived on a sum to shock the most reckless of our correspondents. Daniel Dancer was the man. He looked on saving as an art and saved for art's sake. His father left him a farm and eighty acres, and his sister helped him carry out his scheme of life. He let the land lie fallow, says the London Gest. It costs money to cultivate land. For food the couple believed in one day, one meal. The batch of dumplings baked on a Saturday lasted out the week. For clothing he depended on hay bands "swathed round his feet for boots and round his body for a coat." But Daniel had a weakness. He would buy a clean shirt each year. And out of this arose the tragedy of his life—a lost lawsuit over three-pence which, in Daniel's judgment, the shirt seller had wrongfully pocketed. He died in 1794 worth £3,000 a year.

An old frigate is moored in a canal close to the most fashionable center of Copenhagen. On it is a school of ship cooks. There is an awning on deck. Tables are laid out and numerous inhabitants of Copenhagen take their meals there, for they are both varied and inexpensive such as are served to passengers on sea voyages.

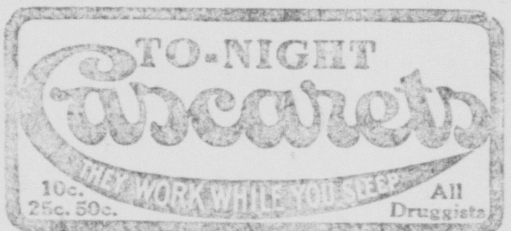

AN OLD-TIME PRESCRIPTION

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. Such a preparation is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, which is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or which is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

PRESIDENT DIAZ

His Inauguration Today Was Conducted Quietly.

NEUTRALIZE CANAL IS THE KIEFER PLAN

Apostle of Peace Wants None of Your Forts.

Washington, Dec. 1.—According to statements made here, Representative Tawney and other opponents of the administration plan to fortify the Panama canal will rally to the support of the Kiefer resolution, which proposes that the canal strip shall be neutralized. This resolution is pending before the committee on foreign affairs, and it will be given early consideration with the probability that it will be reported favorably. It is estimated that it will require at least $14,000,000 to fortify the canal. Unless he changes his mind on the subject the president will recommend in his forthcoming message that the waterway be equipped so that the government may protect it in times of trouble. Many members agree with Representative Tawney, who is chairman of the committee on appropriations, that the neutralization of the canal strip would fully protect the interests of the United States and at the same time save a lot of money.

The Kiefer resolution provides that the nations of the world shall join with this government in treaties declaring the canal zone to be neutral territory. It contemplates, of course, that the commercial administration of the canal remain in the hands of this government.

If the president persists in his determination to recommend the fortification of the canal, an interesting situation will be presented. Most Republican leaders intend to pursue a policy of "good economy" this winter, and they look askance on the proposal to expend millions to fortify the canal. At the same time they realize the large sentimental interest in the waterway and are fearful that public sentiment will force them to uphold the hand of the administration in this particular case.

The steady use of Foley Kidney Pills rid me entirely of all my former troubles. They have my highest recommendations." Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

My Corns Don't Hurt A Bit.

Tired, Ailing, Swollen, Smelly, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn hammer it with your fist if you wish. No more pain after TIZ than if you had never been a bluish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this.

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. To-day there is no sign of corns on either foot and no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend.—Sam. A. Hoover, Progress, N. C."

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose you ever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely close up the pores. Battle of the Herrings.
The battle of the herrings was the comical name given to a fight between an English force and a French detachment not far from Orleans in 1429. The English were conveying a large quantity of supplies, mainly herrings, for it was Lent, to the army that was besieging Orleans. The English had 1,600 men, the French 6,000. The former repulsed the assailants and saved the herrings, so the battle was named in honor of the supplies.
Couldn't Help Himself.

"Can you imagine anybody being so unsober?"
"Oh, yes. You see, the warden wouldn't let them talk."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

INAUGURATION CROWD BARRED

Diaz and Corral Not Willing to Take Chances.

CEREMONY STRICTLY PRIVATE

Beside the Cabinet and Diplomatic Corps, Attendance at Inauguration of Mexican President and Vice President Today Was Limited to a Very Few Privileged Ticket Holders—Streets Lined With Soldiers.

Mexico, City, Dec. 1.—It is said that Gen. Reyes is coming home from Europe to become vice-president in place of Corral, with a view of succeeding Diaz in a short time, just as it had been intended that Corral should do. This it is believed will quiet much agitation.

City of Mexico, Dec. 1.—The inauguration of President Diaz and Vice President Corral today took place in the School of Mines building instead of the new chamber of deputies, as had previously been arranged. The excuse given is that the new building is not ready for use, but it is whispered about that the change was made to keep a crowd away from the place where the inaugural ceremonies were held. The School of Mines has not one-fifth the capacity of the new building. All the members of the cabinet and high government officers and diplomats were present. No one else except those holding special invitations, and these were few, were in attendance. The streets were lined with a double row of soldiers.

Diaz and Corral appeared before the speaker of the house of deputies and promised in simple language to conduct the affairs of the country for the next six years as they have done the last six.

BLAMES THE BROKERS

Stock Exchange Machinations Behind the Trouble, Says Diaz.

City of Mexico, Dec. 1.—Delegations of leading citizens of many parts of the country have called on President Diaz during the last few days and given him personal assurance of the loyalty to the government of the people of their respective localities. In responding to an address of this kind by Luis Lopez Masse, prosecuting attorney of the general district, and a native of the state of Oaxaca, made by Mr. Masse on behalf of the people of that state, President Diaz said: "The present difficulty does not merit my personal attention to the agitators, but if the occasion should arise, wherein a force of even 5,000 men should oppose the government, I shall be there, as I have ever been, at the head of my troops."

Bonds Lose Several Points.

"The government is possessed of sufficient force to subdue the small seditious groups which have been disturbing the public peace. These movements, which in reality are of insignificant importance, but which the press has given large proportions, I attribute to stock exchange machinations, our bonds having lost several points through the false alarm. In a way, however, it is a manifestation of confidence in our country, inasmuch as those same speculators know that as soon as order is re-established, values will reassume a normal state." Referring further to the insignificance of the movement and the disrepute into which the agitators have fallen, the president told of the case of a certain man who made a trip along the Pacific coast with the intention of gathering recruits, offering in recompense a salary of two pesos per day, "and in one whole week," he said, "do you know how many he recruited?—seven."

One May Overcome

constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.

EXAMINATION IS CONTINUAL DRAIN

Records Show That $639.48 Was Paid Out For Examining Crosby and Gregg Records.

HAVE NOTHING TO SHOW FOR IT

Field examiners, sent out by the State Board of Accounts, have examined and toiled the weary hours away in the court house going over the records of present and former county officials, receiving ten per day for their labor. The taxpayers of Rush county pay the bill. So far a number of shortages have been found in the accounts of township trustees and other officials, most of them on petty illegalities and immaterial technicalities. No public record has ever been made of the shortages ever having been made good. So far the work of the field examiners has been without fruit. Before they finish they will have spent near four thousand dollars, as that sum has been appropriated by the county council to pay them.

Examiners Charles W. Sutton and Edward P. Brennan went over the accounts of Former Trustee Ed Crosby, and over one year of the term of Former Trustee T. E. Gregg, finding Mr. Crosby short for a large sum which has since been found to be mostly enlarged and upholstered technicalities. The total expense of that examination was $639.48. Out of that sum $615.58 went to the examiners for their work, Brennan drawing $293.14 of it and Sutton, $322.44. Sheriff Clara Bebout received $4.00, Miss Mae Bebout $8.40, Miss Nancy Hogsett, $8.10, and Mrs. Fanny Study, $3.40, the last three sums being paid for stenographers' work.
